

IFSL Moneybox Adventurous Fund (R Shares)

Fund objective & profile

This fund is mostly invested in shares - at least 70% - with a small slice in bonds, commodities, and cash to help cushion things.

Your money is spread across major markets including the US, Europe, and other regions worldwide, giving it broad exposure to global growth. Because it leans into shares, it can climb faster when markets are rising, but it can also fall further when they're not.

Structured as a 'fund of funds' it benefits from multiple levels of oversight. It's actively managed by the experts at Amundi, drawing on decades of investing expertise and their world-leading investment research institute.

It could suit you if you're happy to ride out bigger swings in value, in exchange for the best chance of stronger growth over the years.

Fees

The fund fee represents the annual costs of running the fund. You won't see these charges taken out of your investment directly. Instead, they are factored into the fund's daily value, meaning the performance figures you see are already net of fund fees.

Fund fee0.29%

Transaction costs also apply.

Investment manager

The funds are managed by Amundi, the largest European investment manager. Learn more about Amundi.
